

Apply for money to support your local party

Your guide on how to apply for funds from the
NEC Development Fund 2018

Introduction

Following the Refounding Labour to Win consultation in 2011, a NEC fund was established for local parties to apply for money to support their activities. The fund provides support through two categories; Local Campaigns and Improvement and Diversity and Democracy.

During 2012 - 2017 the NEC awarded monies from the fund to support the employment of 84 organisers and to fund 52 projects supporting increased voter and member engagement from under-represented groups.

Applications are now being invited from local parties and this application pack sets out how your local party can make a bid for funding including hints and tips on making a successful application.

The deadline for applications is 9 am Wednesday 28 February 2018

We have previously received a large number of applications and as there is a limited fund please ensure you provide all the requested information in your application form and ensure it is submitted on time.

If you have any questions or queries about the fund or would like help or advice with your application please contact Greg Burton on 020 7783 1102 or email Greg_Burton@labour.org.uk

THE AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF THE NEC FUND

Local Campaigns and Improvement

Applications under this category are aimed at supporting the employment of a local organiser, innovative local campaigns, particularly the use of digital technology, community organising and outreach work, and campaigns targeting different groups of voters.

Diversity and Democracy

This category is aimed at improving the diversity of local parties, supporting candidate recruitment programmes to increase participation of under-represented groups, programmes of membership and supporter engagement, particularly new members, and helping CLPs with the cost of sending delegates to Annual, Scottish and Welsh conferences.

Joint applications from CLPs with support from party stakeholders and requests for match-funding of projects and local organisers are welcomed.

Diversity and Democracy

The Diversity and Democracy category is aimed at improving diversity at a local level, increasing representation of under-represented groups, programmes of membership and supporter engagement, particularly new members, and helping CLPs with the cost of sending delegates to Annual, Scottish and Welsh conferences and other bodies related to party democracy.

The NEC fund has supported a wide variety of activity right across the country. We don't want to be too prescriptive in what local parties bid for, but there are some broad guidelines to take into account:

- ➔ The Diversity and Democracy category is specifically for:
 - Increasing engagement and representation among under-represented groups
 - Bringing new people into politics and into the Labour Party
 - Empowering parties to bring people together to deliver successful campaigns
 - Developing skills, experience and training particularly among people who, traditionally, have less access to politics and the political system
 - Ensuring all local parties are able to participate in Labour Party democracy
- ➔ In all cases the NEC panel would expect that local parties have explored all options in undertaking these activities themselves and can provide evidence to that effect
- ➔ Awards have typically been in the region of £1,000 per bid, though larger bids will be considered.

Local Campaigns and Improvement

The Local Campaigns and Improvement category is aimed at supporting the employment of local organisers, innovation in our local campaigns, community organising and outreach work and campaigns targeting different groups of voters.

The NEC panel is keen to see bids made where digital technology can play a greater role in our campaigning, particularly its use in targeting hard to reach voters who are difficult to engage through our usual campaigning methods.

➔ The Local Campaigns and Improvement category is specifically for:

- Supporting the employment of local organisers, particularly those with a focus on community organising
- Developing innovative campaigns, particularly using digital technology, to engage with different groups of voters
- Supporting the employment of a trainee community organiser through our 2016 organiser programme
- Initiatives to build and develop relationships across the communities we seek to represent

- ➔ In all cases the NEC panel would expect that local parties have explored all options in undertaking these activities themselves and can provide evidence to that effect

Local organisers – why they matter

All of the evidence shows that having an organiser is one of the most important investments you can make to win elections.

As we prepare for the electoral challenges ahead, having an organiser in post as early as possible will help to engage and mobilise our members and supporters, including the many new members who have recently joined, support our political education and policy development programmes, build capacity in our local parties and develop relationships within our local communities.

Match funding your organiser bid

The most successful organiser bids from 2012 – 2017 were from local parties who had raised some of the money and were asking the NEC to provide additional funding through our Team 2015 Trainee Organiser Programme.

In addition successful bids were also made from local parties who employed a local organiser and were asking the NEC to provide funding to continue this employment.

Applications came from single CLPs, clusters of CLPs or a combination of CLP led bids with funding support from stakeholders such as Labour Groups and Trade Unions.

If you are considering making an application for organiser funding please contact your regional or Scottish/Welsh office who be able to give you advice about the cost of employing an organiser and the support that the party will be able to offer.

Please note that a condition of funding is that the organiser is paid through the Labour Party payroll, salaries are bench marked against national Labour Party pay scales and there is an appropriate form of line management.

Making an application

How do I apply?

To apply for funding you need to complete an application form and return it by the deadline:

9 am Wednesday 28 February 2018

You will need to supply details about the project or activity that you wish to undertake, or organiser you wish to fund, as well as the amount of money that you are requesting.

In order to ensure that the funds are administered properly we also require some additional information regarding the finances of each party unit making the application i.e. CLP, Labour Group or LCF (Local Campaign Forum).

All lead contacts will be advised of the exact NEC panel meeting dates when set but applications will be considered by the NEC panel at meetings as follows:

Deadline	NEC panel meeting
Wednesday 28 February 2018	Mid/late March

We are also keen to see joint applications from, for example, CLPs and Labour Groups, clusters of CLPs, and elected representatives all working together.

Who decides on the allocation of money from the funds?

The fund is overseen by a panel of NEC members who will meet to consider the applications received and decide upon the fund allocation.

Regional directors and general secretaries, and regional boards and Scottish and Welsh executives will be asked for their input and views.

After I have submitted an application - what information will I receive?

All applications received will be acknowledged by email.

You will need to appoint a lead contact for your bid. This is the person who will be our point of contact for all application administration.

We will check the application to ensure the NEC has all the information it needs to make a decision, and if necessary, request additional information in advance of the NEC meeting.

All lead contacts will be advised of the NEC meeting dates once they are set.

Applicants will be notified of the outcome of the NEC panel following the meeting taking place.

If your application is unsuccessful you will receive feedback from the NEC.

By what criteria will the funds be awarded?

The fund was created to help support the core aims and objectives as set out by the NEC, and to increase activity agreed by the Refounding Labour proposals.

Any proposal will need to demonstrate how it can develop the party in one of the following areas:

1. Electoral success
2. A renewed party
3. Financial stability
4. Community and voter engagement
5. Creating a clear alternative to our political opponents

The fund is not intended to support the everyday workings of a local party such as postage or leaflets but to provide support for local organisers, innovative campaigns and new or additional activity and projects that would otherwise not be able to take place.

What do I need to do now?

Complete the application form taking care to provide all the information requested. To ensure the NEC are able to make the most informed decisions, please make sure you complete your application with as much relevant information as possible.

Particular attention will be paid to the supporting statements that you provide. You will need to show that there is a level of support for your project from key stakeholders in your area.

For instance, you should provide supporting statements from individuals such as your MP/MSP/WAM/MEP, candidate or Labour Group leader.

If your application is successful

If your application is successful and funding has been agreed, the NEC will require evidence that the money has been spent on the designated project.

You will need to provide a follow-up report detailing how the money has been spent, and the impact that the money has had on your local activity.

If for any reason the money has not been spent according to the agreed terms, the NEC reserves the right to recover the money.

Some hints and tips for a successful bid

1. Complete all sections on the application form as fully as possible – the more complete a picture we have of your financial and organisational circumstances, the easier it will be for the NEC to make a decision.
2. Try and give an honest assessment of what the impact would be of the money received.

Let us know if you think it would help you win more council seats, motivate more members and supporters to get involved, or improve your overall campaign capacity. The more specific you can be the better.

3. Consider if there is more that can be done locally to improve the situation you are in.

We anticipate considerable competition for these funds and so will be looking to ensure that we are rewarding those CLPs and party units who have already explored all the options that are available to them locally.

Your application is more likely to be successful if you ask for funding in addition to money you have already fundraised.

4. Make sure that you have agreed what to apply for within the local party.

Applications from different parts of the same organisation will be considered separately, so competing bids from within the same CLP or area are less likely to all be successful.

5. Speak to your regional or Scottish/Welsh office about your application – they will have knowledge about what is likely to be successful, and will be able to offer guidance and support about how best to structure your application.

They may be able to help with some of the logistical questions that you will need to answer such as where would an organiser be based. They may also be able to suggest other CLPs or groups that you could work with to make joint bids.

6. As part of the application process we would expect to see supporting statements from key stakeholders in your area particularly where you are looking for matched funding for activity.

These supporting statements would most likely be letters from individuals such as the senior elected representatives in your area.
