FOREWORD

JEREMY CORBYN

Our party is the only people-powered movement across the country – with half a million members and millions of unionised workers in every community in Britain.

At the last election over 40% of people voted Labour.

The European elections this year were disappointing – and I want to pay tribute to all our MEPs, both those who were returned in May and those who weren't. They have been an enormous attribute to our party.

Brexit is a divisive issue in our communities and in our party. That is why, following the European elections, I took the time to consult with the shadow cabinet, NEC and affiliated unions, and listened to what members were saying through the National Policy Forum – and found a consensus position that the whole party can campaign on.

The Peterborough by-election in June returned a Labour MP and showed our party mobilising in an incredibly impressive way. Following the death of Paul Flynn MP, we elected a Labour MP in Newport West.

In the local elections we gained control of councils like Amber Valley, Calderdale, Gravesham, High Peak and Trafford. I want to thank all members who stood as candidates.

Tory austerity has continued to hit communities across Britain. Poverty is up, crime is up, NHS waiting times are up and school class sizes are up. They have made a shambles of Brexit. The Tories have no answers.

It is only a Labour government that will end austerity, tackle inequality, address the climate emergency with a green industrial revolution, and put the issue of Brexit back to the people.

Leader of the Labour Party

INTRODUCTION

TOM WATSON

This past year has been a difficult one for our country and our party. Through tough times it has been the ceaseless dedication and commitment of Labour members and affiliates that has raised my spirits and reminded me of the strength that lies in our collective endeavour.

The politics of the last year has been characterised by paralysis. An ailing Prime Minister lacked the leadership and creativity needed to rise to the greatest challenge this nation has faced since the Second World War. The new Prime Minister is even more divisive and a catastrophic no deal looms. Brexit has torn politics and the country apart and we are nowhere near resolving it.

Theresa May tried to force a hard Brexit through Parliament and I'm proud that Labour MPs stood against that and refused to budge. A Tory Brexit is an affront to Labour's values of internationalism, solidarity, freedom and equality and our party will not stand for it. It is right that we've committed to putting any Brexit deal negotiated back to the people so they can have a final say.

While Westminster has been consumed by Brexit too many issues of national importance have been left festering.

The technology giants continue to run rings around national governments while the harm, hate speech and fake news grows in the online world. School funding is in crisis. A third of children are leaving primary school obese and yet schools are so starved of funding that they are cutting sports provision.

Regional inequality is growing and experts have warned about London 'decoupling' from the rest of the UK without a huge national investment programme. Austerity has undermined the Northern Powerhouse project over many years. Child poverty in working families is growing.

Only a Labour government will be able to tackle these huge problems and bring our country together again. The nation needs hope and a positive vision of the future, they can only get that from us.

This has not been a year of great electoral success for Labour. We lost ground in the local elections and were beaten into third place by the Liberal Democrats in the EU elections. We must recognise the hard truths about why happened and what needs to change. I want to pay tribute to the councillors and MEPs who lost their seats in those elections. You have served our movement faithfully and did not deserve to lose. I also want to thank our members and affiliated members for your hard work. Without your efforts we may not have returned as many candidates as we did.

We may need your help again soon. Our country's future is uncertain, the Brexit crisis deepens and the Government has no working majority. We need to be ready for a general election at any time. That means building up our campaigning activity, raising funds and recruiting members and supporters.

The Tories have run out of ideas and run out of steam. They are totally incapable of providing the leadership and the policies this country needs.

I hope this conference provides the bedrock of policies and campaigning resolve we need to win the confidence of the nation and form a transformational Labour government.

Tom Watson,
Deputy Leader of the Labour Party

INTRODUCTION

JENNIE FORMBY

2019 has been another busy year for the Labour Party with local elections in many parts of the country, three by-elections and of course the European elections. As ever, I have been so proud of the hard work, skills and commitment of all our Labour Party staff in the nations and regions, at the Labour Party offices in Newcastle and London and those supporting our elected officials. I would like to take this opportunity to thank you all for everything you do.

Brexit has of course dominated the headlines throughout the year and at the time of writing it remains a difficult issue, with Britain more divided than ever because of the Tories' repeated bungling of the negotiations. Labour is the only party with a message of hope which can unite our nations, and with policies to rebuild Britain.

Our investment in Community Organising is starting to show tangible results as our team of community organisers across the UK become fully integrated with the regional teams. People powered mass meetings have brought thousands of people together across the nations and regions. Alongside our regional teams they have played a vital role in elections this year, helping to win councillors and councils in Gravesham, Southampton, and Mansfield. Community Organisers will play a critical role at the next General Election.

Work with BAME communities has also been a priority. We have come a long way in terms of representation but we are still a long way from being properly representative of all communities. This is why the launch of the Bernie Grant leadership programme for BAME members has been so important.

Our team has been working hard delivering the outcomes of the Democracy Review, ensuring our members' voices are heard and that we are genuinely a lay member-led organisation. Building and strengthening our membership is a key element of this and developing strategies to do this are a priority for our regions and our Membership Directorate. In particular, we are reaching out to affiliate trade unions to work with us on linking membership growth to policy development. This will make a real difference to the lives of workers and their families.

Last but by no means least, I would like to finish by thanking you, our members, for all that you do for the Labour Party – campaigning week in week out, holding positions at branch and constituency Labour Party level and representing your local communities. Thank you for all your hard work, dedication and support. Our members are the backbone of our party and everything you do makes a difference to our common objectives of achieving a fairer society that serves the needs of the many not the few.

Jennie Formby
General Secretary of the Labour Party

NEC COMMITTEES

The NEC has established the following joint committee:

JOINT POLICY COMMITTEE (JPC)

The JPC is responsible for strategic oversight of the party's policy development. It oversees the rolling programme and acts as a steering group for the National Policy Forum (NPF). Jointly convened by the Leader and NEC Co-convenor, it is a joint committee made up of members of the NEC, Shadow Cabinet and NPF.

The NEC has established the following sub-committees

Audit, Risk and Compliance Committee

Responsible for the party's risk register and policies to mitigate risks and scrutinises the audited accounts.

Business Board

Oversight of the business functions of the organisation including the management of finances.

Equalities Committee

Responsible for driving the party's equality agenda and the development of an inclusive organisation at all levels.

Organisation Committee

Responsible for party rules and constitution; ensures the party is operating effectively throughout the country and has overall responsibility for membership, selections, investigations, conferences, electoral law, boundaries strategy and internal elections.

Disputes Panel

A panel of the NEC Organisation Committee which hears membership appeals; re-admission applications; party disputes and conciliation; minor investigations and local government appeals where referred to the NEC. It operates in a quasi-judicial fashion, conducting hearings and interviews around the country where necessary.

Bursary Panel

Considers applications for financial help from Parliamentary candidates from a working class or low income background or have additional costs due to disability.

Development Fund Panel

Considers applications from CLPs for one off support or seed-money for innovative, outward looking initiatives.

OBITUARIES

NEC AIMS AND OBJECTIVES FOR 2019

The first objective of the NEC, General Secretary and party staff is to ensure we have a well-equipped, first class operation to put us in the best possible place to win elections and to deliver on the political strategy set out by our Leadership and Conference.

We have continued to adhere to the NEC's finance strategy first established in 2008 and as a result, the party remains debt free. However, we must still be mindful of risks and maintaining financial discipline continues to be vital.

The General Secretary has set out three key objectives:

➤ TO ORGANISE – developing community organising and campaigning at all levels of the party and embedding an organising culture.

➤ TO GROW – to drive membership forward as well as to retain existing members.

➤ TO WIN – to ensure we have the strategy and structures in place to win elections at local, national and UK-wide level, including a snap General Election should one be called.

The Labour Party rulebook states: "The primary purpose of the NEC shall be to provide a strategic direction for the party as a whole and to maintain and develop an active party in the country, working in partnership with the party's representatives in Parliament, the European Parliament, devolved administrations and local government to secure the party's objectives."

To this end the NEC will continue to develop campaigning and organising to build a social movement that seeks to achieve real change and genuinely engages with communities to win elections in 2019, whether local, mayoral, PCC or by-elections, and to be ready for a General Election whenever it may be called. A movement, which works to empower people, to deliver change for themselves in their communities.

Our overall focus and vision will always be to secure the election of a Labour Government with a transformative agenda to deliver the change so desperately needed to grow our economy, create secure jobs with well-defined rights for workers and trade unions and to provide appropriate care for all those in our society who need support.

PARLIAMENTARY BY-ELECTION PETERBOROUGH

In Peterborough – our objective was simple; to fight the election on our terms. To do that, we needed to make our messages simple and local.

Prior to the short campaign, we spoke to over 8,000 people and used the feedback from those intensive doorstep conversations to create our narrative for the campaign based on the issues that had been raised with us.

We refined our local messages. And highlighted the fact that our candidate, Lisa Forbes, was local and well known. We produced our printed materials, crafted our digital content and lined up visits to support our campaigning themes.

We picked three core issues. Firstly, we ran with crime. Highlighting local crime stories, police cuts and the human impact of crime on communities across Peterborough. This was delivered through a crime leaflet, a huge amount of digital work and a visit from Shadow Policing Minister, Louise Haigh. That week we secured three separate crime related stories in the local paper.

The second week was education. We had a visit from Angela Rayner to highlight the school cuts campaigns, figures that demonstrated that Peterborough schools had lost out on £22m of funding since 2015. We had a video of Lisa delivered through facebook outside local schools highlighting the cuts suffered by that school. We received excellent coverage in that week too.

Finally, before moving in to GOTV we highlighted Tory council neglect as our third issue. Peterborough is third worst in the country for fly-tipping and fourth for littering.

By the third week of the campaign, people were stopping Lisa in the street describing her as “that woman from Facebook”.

The theme was simple. This election is about so much more than Brexit, it’s about Peterborough.

We turned the Brexit Party in to our biggest strength. Using the threat of a Brexit win to drive up turnout amongst our voters and squeeze potential Lib Dem and Green voters.

Organisationally we were ruthless with our targeting. Hitting specific groups of voters with messaging we believed would be most effective.

Peterborough was a seat Labour was written off in, largely because of an insurgent Brexit Party in a seat that voted 61% leave.

The lessons from the campaign are simple.

- Local issues matter – if you’re talking about issues that people have told you they care about, they’re much more likely to listen to what you have to say.
- Know where your vote is and having a strategy to get it out is critical.
- Running an integrated campaign is crucial. If you’re serving messages through a variety of different mediums, print, press, digital and face to face, it seeps in to the public consciousness much more effectively.

Finally, a good campaign takes time to build. The Tories and the Brexit Party flooded in to the seat after the EU elections and attempted to build a campaign from there. They did not have enough time, didn’t know where their vote was and had no idea how to get it out.

The result a resounding win for Labour.

PARLIAMENTARY BY-ELECTION NEWPORT WEST

We were deeply saddened by the passing of our friend and colleague Paul Flynn in February. Paul represented Newport West for 32 years, and was a fantastic advocate for the constituency and its people.

As he had previously announced his intention to stand down at the next General Election, by the time of his death and the subsequent moving of the writ, Ruth Jones had already been selected as the candidate for Newport West by the local party.

Born and bred locally on the Gaer, with two children who attended local schools, and thirty years' experience in the NHS, Ruth's strong Newport credentials and her compelling backstory as a campaigner and activist informed much of the campaign's messaging.

Alongside Ruth's biography, messaging focussed on crime and police cuts and universal credit and homelessness. Given the number of smaller parties competing in the election, in the final weeks of the campaign we also drew heavily on the squeeze message of 'It's Ruth or the Tories'.

Over the course of the campaign, we spoke to over 16,000 voters, with 7,000 Labour promises, and lifted the CLP contact rate to 55 per cent.

Our most successful day in terms of mobilisation was the final Saturday of the campaign when Jeremy Corbyn visited, with over three hundred attendees at his speech, the vast majority of whom went out campaigning afterwards in both the morning and afternoon sessions.

Our social media campaign was also extremely successful, with 1,500,000 Twitter impressions and 743,774 impressions on Facebook. Alongside the statistics, we were pleased to see so much anecdotal evidence of the success of the campaign, with voters we spoke to on the doorstep often commenting on how they had seen Ruth online or knew her backstory from videos on Facebook.

MPs, AMs and Councillors from across Wales and beyond lent their time and support during the campaign, with Nick Thomas-Symonds and Jessica Morden acting as Political Lead and Candidate's Aide respectively throughout, and Jayne Bryant AM liaising on behalf of the Welsh Labour Government in Cardiff.

Thanks to the hard work of staff, members and elected representatives, we retained the seat with a 39.6 per cent share of the vote and a majority of 1,951.

STANDING UP FOR NEWPORT WEST

I'm proud of our city and of our people. That's why in this election I want to talk about the things that matter to you.

On the doorstep, I've heard your concerns about rising crime and police cuts; the impact of Tory welfare reforms; and your calls for more investment and support to help our city grow.

This by-election is our chance to tell the Tories in Westminster that we will not accept or endorse their cuts that continue to stretch our public services and push people into poverty.

I am determined to stand up for the people, the jobs and the economy of Newport West. I hope I will have your support.

Ruth Jones
Your Welsh Labour Candidate for Newport West

ABOUT ME

I'm Newport born and bred. I attended Duffryn Comprehensive School before training to be a physiotherapist. I now live in Allt-y-rhyn with my husband.

I worked in the NHS for over thirty years and I'm a governor at the primary school that my children attended.

In my free time I sing in a choir and volunteer at a local Night Shelter scheme.

FIGHTING TORY POLICE CUTS

Crime is rising and it's clear why. The Tories have slashed our local police budgets by nearly £30million. I will fight for more police on the beat and a serious effort across the city to tackle the root causes of crime.

SUPPORTING A NEW M4 RELIEF ROAD

I support a new M4 relief road, combined with an improved public transport network to ease the flow of traffic in and around Newport. We've had enough talking on this - now we need action.

SEEKING JUSTICE FOR 1950s WOMEN

Botched changes to the state pension age for women born in the 1950s have left many out of pocket. I will speak up for 1950s women and fight on in Parliament until they get a fair deal.

TACKLING UNIVERSAL CREDIT

Universal Credit has driven hardworking people into poverty and pushed people out of their homes and onto the streets. I support an overhaul of the system that acts as a safety net and puts people first.

VOTE LABOUR THURSDAY 4 APRIL

ELECTIONS 2019

ANALYSIS

LOCAL ELECTIONS 2019

The 2019 local elections were for a total of 8,425 council seats across 248 local authorities and five directly elected mayoral positions as well as the new post of North of Tyne Combined Authority Mayor.

Labour deployed and tested a range of new technologies for our activists in these elections, including a successful “Boardrunner” extension to our existing Doorstep App for Voter ID work. This allows the already popular Doorstep App to be used by a team run from a single tablet computer, in the same way as with a clipboard. The elections also provided an opportunity for us to begin testing our new Telling App, allowing the transfer of information from tellers at the polling station to campaign organisers in the committee room running an electronic polling day operation to be near-instant.

Most of the council seats contested this year were previously elected in 2015 on the same day as the General Election, although local government re-structuring and new warding arrangements meant that in many areas the results could not be compared directly with those four years ago.

The BBC’s Projected National Share of the Vote (with previous years shown for comparison) was:

ELECTIONS 2020

Next year's local elections are due to be held in 115 councils in England and will elect approximately 2,500 councillors.

In addition there are elections for the Greater London Authority (Mayor and Assembly), Metro-Mayors in Greater Manchester, Liverpool City Region, Tees Valley and West Midlands as well as three city mayoral positions.

Also being elected are 40 Police and Crime Commissioners in England and Wales.

There are no scheduled elections in Scotland until 2021.

ELECTIONS 2019

LOCAL GOVERNMENT REPORT

The Association of Labour Councillors (ALC) continues to be the voice for councillors within the party, ensuring councillors receive the support and training they need to fulfil their roles.

We held our first training session with Mental Health First Aid England (MHFA) on awareness at the start of August for 25 councillors from Labour Groups across the North West. The report of this is on our website and we will be looking to do more of these over the coming year. This has been the result of feedback from councillors to the ALC so do get in touch with your regional representatives.

LOCAL ELECTION CAMPAIGN 2019

Once again, representatives from the LGA Labour Group and the ALC held a series of meetings in the run up to the local elections with senior campaign staff, ensuring Local Government representatives were able to feed directly into the campaign planning. A review of the Local Election results has been communicated to key stakeholders and Andrew Gwynne held briefings both with council leaders and the ALC Executive at their meeting in July.

LEADERSHIP AT THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

Nick Forbes, Leader of Newcastle City Council, was officially re-elected as Leader of the LGA Labour Group in the LGA at their conference in Bournemouth. Anntionette Bramble, Deputy Mayor of Hackney and Michael Payne, Deputy Leader of Gedling Borough Council were also elected as Deputy Leaders.

The LGA Labour Group ran a very successful 'Breaking Point' campaign, with over 5,000 Labour councillors signing a petition that was delivered directly to Downing Street, the largest petition of its kind. The campaign highlighted the funding crisis that is engulfing councils after almost a decade of Tory cuts, calling for a real end to Tory austerity.

LABOUR LOCAL GOVERNMENT CONFERENCE

Taking place in the West Midlands, the ALC/LGA held their annual Local Government conference in February. Many thanks to our guest speakers, which included a keynote address by Jeremy Corbyn, and contributions from Andrew Gwynne, Dawn Butler, Angela Rayner and Tom Watson. New councillors continue to be eligible to attend for free and the programme was supplemented by a range of plenary and breakout sessions on issues including women & equalities, education and council funding.

COUNCILLOR TRAINING

The LGA Labour Group continues to put on their 'Be a Councillor' sessions at conferences and regional events across the country, encouraging Labour Party members to stand for election. Future sessions will be advertised through regional offices and conference literature so do sign up to one.

In June, the ALC/LGA held our first dedicated opposition training day in Birmingham. The day was a fantastic opportunity for the 120 attendees to share best practice and receive key training from peers, party staff and councillors with a wealth of Local Government experience. We will look to develop our training resources for opposition groups in the coming year.

Many congratulations to those who were re-elected or elected for the first time at the local elections in May. It is always sad to lose good colleagues, so we would also like to put on record our thanks to those who lost their seats or stood for us this year, for their hard work and service to the party, and to Labour in Local Government.

Nick Forbes,
Leader of the LGA Labour Group

Simon Henig,

LOOKING AHEAD: THE YEAR AHEAD IN SCOTLAND

Under Richard Leonard's leadership, Scottish Labour is continuing to show we are the party of radical change in Scotland. At Scottish Labour Conference earlier this year, we put forward a positive policy platform, which offered people hope and an alternative vision of a sustainable economy that works for the many, not the few. Our key policy pledge to extend free bus travel, and build a free bus network for the whole of Scotland, has proved popular in communities and on the doorsteps.

Following what was an extremely disappointing European election result in Scotland, Richard Leonard has clearly reaffirmed Scottish Labour's position of remain and reform of both the UK and Europe. Scottish Labour is not the party of the status quo. Richard has set up a working group exploring Scotland's options for change, including more devolution for Scotland and a radical redistribution of wealth and power across the UK. An interim report on the group's findings will be published later in the year.

Candidate selections are underway for priority Scottish Parliament constituencies to ensure that we are ready to fight the Scottish Parliament elections in 2021, and maintain our commitment to at least 50% female candidates. Scottish Labour will be focussed on preparing CLPs and candidates, and building strong self-sufficient campaign teams who will deliver Labour's message online and onto the doorsteps across Scotland.

In order to ensure that Scottish Labour represents the communities we seek to serve, we have launched a Candidate Diversity Programme to increase the number of candidates coming forward for selection, at all levels, from underrepresented communities. We are holding a number of outreach events over the coming months with a particular focus on encouraging members from BAME, LGBT+ and disabled communities.

The General Election in 2017 demonstrated that strong local candidates can achieve electoral success in Scotland. It is vital that we continue to invest in, and focus on, identifying, recruiting and developing future candidates to build a new generation of talent for Scottish Labour. Our highly successful Gordon Aikman Leadership Programme, which provides high level training to potential future candidates, is in its third year and focuses on celebrating the distinctiveness of our movement by encouraging applications from women members and candidates from underrepresented, culturally diverse communities. Participants receive training from some of Labour's most talented individuals, with a focus on developing public speaking skills, media and communications, community organising, campaigning and leadership.

Scottish Labour's newly established Local Government Conference was held for the first time in November 2018, with the next due to take place in November 2019, bringing together trade unions, councillors, party members and third sector organisations to develop an alternative vision for the funding of our lifeline local services and investment in local communities. In Scotland, too many of our public services, from education to transport, housing to healthcare, are struggling due to under-investment, with the SNP simply passing on Tory austerity.

In 2018, Scottish Labour also held its first Women's Conference with policy-making powers and direct elections to the Scottish Executive Committee. The conference was brimming with enthusiasm, passion and ideas. Now in its second year, we are looking to build on this success with more women delegates from CLPs across the country and more motions on how Scottish Labour can improve the lives of women in Scotland.

Going into 2020 and beyond, the dividing line in Scotland is now between Labour's plan to invest and build an economy that works for the many, not the few, or further austerity with the SNP and the Tories. This is the clear message Scottish Labour will continue to drive forward.

LOOKING AHEAD: 2020 ELECTIONS THE YEAR AHEAD IN WALES

The focus in Welsh Labour in July will be on Brecon and Radnorshire, where a by-election will take place on 1 August.

Over the course of 2019/2020, Welsh Labour will complete reselection processes for Welsh Assembly list candidates, as well as selecting candidates in vacant and non-Welsh Labour held seats. That process will begin this autumn in Bridgend and the Rhondda, which have been designated as priorities by the Welsh Executive Committee.

We will also complete selections for non-Welsh Labour held Parliamentary seats, with selection processes in Montgomeryshire, Monmouthshire, and Ceredigion beginning shortly.

Work is continuing on the Welsh Democracy Review, with a final report due to go to Welsh Labour Conference in 2020, and Lord Murphy is continuing to meet with members and stakeholders over the course of the year.

November 2019 will see our Women's Conference take place, and, following submissions to the first stage of the Democracy Review, for the first time in some years it will include a session in which motions will be debated and delegates will vote. The Conference will still be open to all women members, with the usual programme of speakers and workshops running alongside debates.

The next year will see increased activity throughout the Welsh Labour policy process as we develop a manifesto to put to voters in the 2021 Assembly Election.

Welsh Labour will also be focussed on preparing CLPs and candidates for a General Election whenever it comes, and the next Assembly elections in 2021, with a range of training and campaign materials to help take our message out to communities across Wales.

MEMBERS AND SUPPORTERS

RENEWING OUR PARTY AND BUILDING AN ACTIVE MEMBERSHIP AND SUPPORTERS NETWORK

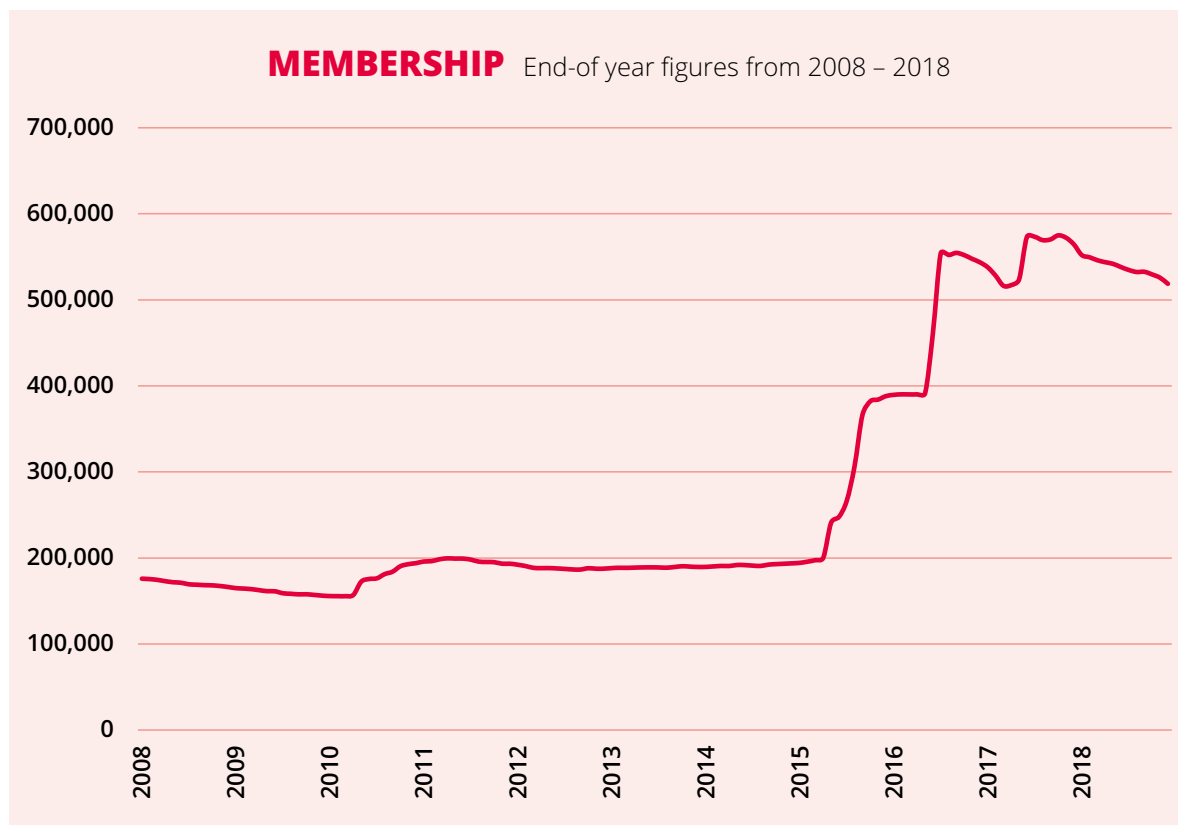

Halfway through the election cycle and with Brexit looming large in the public consciousness, we're working hard to further expand the membership, retain those who have already joined and empower all members with the tools to win elections and transform society.

A year after the launch of Organise, the tool is the primary way for members to mobilise volunteers, with over 26,000 active users in the last 12 months. Chatter remains a powerful SMS mobilisation tool, particularly crucial in the Newport West and Peterborough by-elections this year, with over 200,000 texts sent in the last 12 months. The distributed phonebank system Dialogue was particularly effective in supporting our victory in Peterborough, with thousands of activists across the country using the tool to speak to voters. This is just the start of big things to come.

Already this year we've responded to 11,130 inbound calls and 592,037 emails, a big increase of 8.6 times and 3.5 times on 2018 respectively. This two-way dialogue with members is crucial for ensuring that our members are heard within our party.

Labour is a party for the many, funded by the many. We are on track to raise half a million pounds by the end of the year, with an average donation of £13.29. Engagement with our communications has also rocketed, with 83% of our list having taken action in the last 6 months.

With the restructuring of our membership and mobilisation functions and the recent recruitment of a new Director of Member Mobilisation and Activism, expect to see a step change in our approach in the coming year. We'll be redoubling our efforts to put member engagement, political education and activism at the centre of Labour's plan to win.

MEMBERS AND SUPPORTERS EQUALITIES

EQUALITIES: WINNING WITH WOMEN

Following last year's policy making Women's Conference, this year's Conference was held as a standalone two day event in February. Delegates debated a total of eight motions with two of those motions selected to go forward to Annual Conference 2019. Both conferences have played a significant role in enabling our women members to have greater participation in policy making and provided an opportunity to share ideas with members and politicians from across the UK and internationally.

2018 also saw the continuation of Labour Party events and #thenextstep campaign to mark the centenary of some women getting the vote. Many CLPs organised campaign sessions, stalls and social events while the national Women's Gala raised funds to support female candidates in early selection seats. The Women's Afternoon Tea held with Unison was a fun event for members and supporters to celebrate Labour's achievements for women. Throughout the year, the Shadow Women and Equalities team worked closely with the Centenary Action Group, to campaign for women's greater participation and representation in politics.

The Jo Cox Women in Leadership Programme has successfully completed another cycle. There were 56 new trainees on this round. The programme was very successful with positive feedback. The next round of applications will reopen after Annual Conference.

EQUALITIES: BAME

BAME Labour and Labour's Friends groups played a key role during the local and European elections by engaging and mobilising BAME communities and campaigning across Britain.

Labour Friends groups such as Labour Friends of India have re-established, in addition various groups have organised receptions to celebrate religious events which reached out to community groups from outside the Labour Party.

Shadow Women and Equalities Minister, Dawn Butler hosted the annual Black History Month reception in Parliament. Speakers included Jeremy Corbyn as well as key equality activists in the BAME community. It provided an opportunity for members to celebrate the achievements of black people in the UK and also to hear about Labour's plans to support a new Emancipation Educational Trust, aimed at educating future generations about slavery and the struggle for emancipation.

The Bernie Grant Leadership programme launched in April 2019 to address the under-representation of BAME members as elected Labour politicians and in other leadership positions. The training programme started in June with 51 trainees and will continue until September. Following the completion of the programme the party will carry out a review and the feedback will be used to inform future programmes.

EQUALITIES: LGBT+

Labour continued to campaign for the introduction of compulsory LGBT+ inclusive relationships and sex education and ensured Parliament passed legislation for this to be introduced from 2020.

LGBT+ Labour played a key role as part of the campaign. In response to the backlash from groups across the UK they created a guide for local councilors on how to advocate for LGBT+ inclusive Relationships Education.

LGBT+ officers now have more powers within local Labour Party structures and LGBT+ Labour has provided further support and guidance with a newly published handbook.

This year has also seen a strong campaign focus on international LGBT+ rights. Shadow Women and Equalities Minister, Dawn Butler, Shadow Foreign Secretary, Emily Thornberry and LGBT+ Labour strongly condemned Brunei's anti-gay laws which included the death penalty. They took part in mass protests outside the Brunei-owned Dorchester hotel in London and with mounting global pressure Brunei overturned the death penalty law.

EQUALITIES: DISABILITY LABOUR

Disability Labour have had a productive year. They elected a new executive committee and set up the first ever Disability Hub at Annual Conference 2018 to support many disabled delegates.

Disability Labour has continued to work with the party on accessibility issues with several campaigns being held to increase awareness of this improving the lives of disabled people and tackling discrimination. Notable campaigns have included -protecting the Welsh government's independent living grant, the 'Keep the Guard on the Train' campaign and parity in law for victims of Disability Hate Crime.

Disability Labour has also been part of a group led by Shadow Chancellor John McDonnell MP to examine the tragic and preventable deaths of those denied ESA (Employment and Support Allowance) because of the flawed WCA (Work Capacity Assessment).

EQUALITIES: YOUNG LABOUR

Young Labour had a good start to the year. The Young Labour National Committee met in March and in June to set priorities, discuss events and key matters concerning the committee.

In May, young members, young trade unionists, students and affiliates came together with Jeremy Corbyn for Young Labour Political School in Birmingham. Over a 100 young people attended for a day packed with educational workshops and speeches. Jeremy Corbyn started off the day with a policy announcement concerning young people and the minimum wage.

Young members were successfully mobilised to go out campaigning in recent elections, particularly the successful by election in Peterborough. Young Labour has also seen an increase in Young Labour groups and with a recently appointed Youth Officer the party will continue to engage and provide guidance and support to young members nationally.

EQUALITIES: LABOUR STUDENTS

Over the last year Labour Students has run a range of campaigns and supported students across the country on their campuses and in wider communities. Their priority campaign focused on workers' rights after Brexit. They provided resources for Labour clubs to raise awareness and pass motions on this issue within their student unions.

Labour Students also continued to build on their voter registration drive, sending out materials for students to use in encouraging their peers to register. This was particularly important with the Local and European elections, where Labour Students mobilised students in support of our fantastic candidates across the country. They ran national campaign days every week in the build-up to polling day, working with Labour clubs to maximise turnout in key seats and support candidates standing in marginal areas.

NATIONAL POLICY FORUM NPF REPORT

The National Policy Forum (NPF) has had another activity-packed year, engaging with more members, supporters and external stakeholders than ever before through our evidence-taking sessions and consultation events. Activity was also reinforced by providing more activity online through our website Labour Policy Forum, Twitter @labpolicyforum and through webinars with the Training team and senior Labour politicians.

The formal business at National Women's Conference in September 2018 was based on policy debates on four key areas as chosen by CLPs and affiliates through a ballot over the summer. The top two topics as chosen by CLPs and the top two as chosen by affiliates went forward to be composited and then debated on Conference floor. The topics chosen were: Abortion Rights, Childcare, Women and the Economy and Women's Health and Safety. Reports of these debates fed back into the NPF process.

Annual Conference was presented with the NPF report, detailing the work of the NPF policy commissions over the year. The reports formed the basis of debates on the floor, and in nine policy seminars, which together allowed delegates an opportunity to discuss and reflect on key policy issues. The Reference Back mechanism adopted at last year's conference was used eleven times at this conference, with ten motions to reference back accepted and one rejected.

Following Conference, the NEC tasked the NPF to consult with Labour members, affiliates and stakeholders on eight areas of policy, with an increased focus on participation from CLPs. This year there is a particular focus on working closely with several branches of the party, including: newly elected CLP Policy Officers established through the Democracy Review; the Labour Training team; regional Labour teams; and Community Organising teams to increase engagement with and submissions from local party discussions from across the country. Alongside there was an increase in online activity promoting engagement through social media, online videos and training material, including on Labour's new Achieve platform.

This programme of consultation continues the work to build on the popular 2017 manifesto so we are ready for government whenever the election comes. As part of this work each commission was tasked with producing a consultation document taking an area of Labour policy to look at in further detail. The policy commissions then set a programme of meetings over the next year to take evidence.

The consultation topics were:

- Local accountability within the National Education Service
- Democratic public ownership
- A sustainable food policy
- Rebuilding a public NHS
- Local economic development
- Brexit
- Building an effective criminal justice system
- Rebuilding a just social security system

After elections over the summer for Divisions I (CLPs), IV (Local Government), and XII (Labour International) of the NPF and at Annual Conference for Divisions II (Trade Unions) and V (Socialist Societies) a process was implemented by the Policy Development Team to ensure that NPF Representatives could sit on their preferred policy commissions. Newly elected representatives were welcomed at the first meetings in January.

February 2019 saw the party's first stand-alone Women's Conference in almost 20 years, and the first with policy-making powers, being held in Telford. CLP and Trade Union delegates took part in an online ballot to select which topics would be composited and debated over the weekend. Eight topics were chosen through the ballot, four from CLPs and four from affiliates. In addition, after the weekend's debates a vote was held by section to decide which two of these composites would go on to be debated at Annual Conference 2019. The topics successful in the ballot were Rights for Migrant Women and Universal Credit & Employment Support. During the two days there were also opportunities for delegates and member visitors to speak to with Labour's Policy Team and National Policy Forum Representatives attending about the consultation, as well as issues such as organising policy discussion events in their local areas.

The NPF Consultation was formally launched with an email from Jeremy Corbyn MP to all members in late February. Consultation packs were sent to all CLP secretaries, which included a suite of materials including the eight policy documents and a guide to getting involved and hosting meetings locally. Although European Elections meant that a lot of activity planned for after the Local Elections campaign in May had to be cancelled or postponed, hundreds of discussions were still held by local branches, CLPs and regions to discuss the documents and policy ideas.

The Policy Development team also worked closely with the Business Relations team to get evidence from organisations with experience in these fields. Consultation events were held with stakeholders on skills at the University of Westminster; the future of food with the National Farmers' Union; at the Science and Industry Museum in Manchester to talk about local economic development and Sir Keir Starmer QC MP hosted an online webinar to talk about Brexit with over 80 organisations.

From January to June the eight policy commissions met and held evidence-taking sessions, to hear from invited experts in the field and examine submissions coming in from members, CLPs, external organisations and business, as well as people attending consultation events across the country. Once the consultation had closed on 30 June the commissions met to consider submissions and update the consultation documents to reflect what had been heard from the consultation. These documents can be found in the NPF Annual Report to Conference 2019. We would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who got involved in this year's consultation.

To read more about this year's work please see the NPF Annual Report to Conference 2019.

INTERNATIONAL INTERNATIONAL WORK WESTMINSTER FOUNDATION FOR DEMOCRACY

The Labour Party has continued to strengthen its relationships with sister parties to support the Labour Party's broader objectives and to maximise the effectiveness and impact of the Opposition.

Labour's frontbench team has benefited from dialogue with key sister party counterparts on issues including Brexit, foreign affairs, education, equalities, employment and environmental policy. Frontbench visits were also facilitated to Spain, Portugal, Sweden, Ireland, Latvia and the Netherlands.

Discussions with sister parties on party organisation, election strategy and campaigns continue to inform parties and election campaigns around the world. Discussions over the last year have taken place with senior party staff and politicians from France, Australia, Germany, Denmark, Finland, Spain, Norway and Sweden among others.

Labour also took an active role during the European elections, assisting in running the PES training academy with a number of Labour Party staff and politicians leading workshops for activists across Europe and running best practice social media training with key sister parties.

The Labour Party's Westminster Foundation for Democracy programme continued to focus on the needs of sister parties by fostering dialogue between parties, with civil society, on human rights and equalities linking into our work with women, youth and LGBT+ networks.

Special emphasis was placed on tackling violence against women, working through regional networks and seeking a cross party platform to address this issue.

We also encouraged links between LGBT+ organisations and sister parties, working across borders by bringing in regional best practise. Our bi-lateral programmes, including inclusive policy-making based on grassroots consultation, campaigning, communications and training of election monitors complemented the regional work. Throughout youth have played a central role in programme delivery. We encouraged our young alumni, especially from Eastern Europe and the Middle East and North Africa region to lead on trainings for young activists within their regions.

EUROPE

EUROPEAN PARLIAMENTARY LABOUR PARTY REPORT

During a year in which Europe and Brexit have dominated the British political agenda, Labour's MEPs have continued to get on with the job of representing their constituents, working with our Socialist colleagues across Europe to speak up for Labour values inside the EU decision making process.

We were devastated to lose several hard-working Labour MEPs in the European election. I would like to pay tribute to these colleagues, who put in so much effort over the years and thank them for all they have done for Labour, Britain, and Europe.

We must now look to our future work. Whatever happens on Brexit, for so long as Britain remains a member of the EU, your Labour MEPs will fight to deliver Labour's radical agenda through the EU institutions.

Though the Labour MEPs are fewer in number, our determination is undimmed and we continue to be part of one of the biggest groups in the European Parliament, sitting side-by-side with colleagues who share our progressive agenda. Just as we have used our collective strength to deliver better EU legislation over the last five-year term, we will continue to work to advocate and deliver policies that will benefit working people. We will push for stronger workers' rights and high pan-European standards that put people before profits. We will fight for action to address the climate emergency and continue to expose and tackle tax avoidance.

As we face the prospect of a Tory prime minister more right-wing than Theresa May and more reckless than David Cameron, and with the threat of Brexit catastrophe hanging over Britain, Labour MEPs will also keep up our fight against the right-wing and extremist forces that have been the driving political force behind Brexit.

And we give full backing to what Jeremy Corbyn said to fellow socialist leaders in Europe, that any Brexit deal "must now go back to the British people for a vote with an option to remain in the EU". Brexit is turning out to be so different from the promises made by the Leave campaign and by Tory ministers that is right go back to the people for a final say.

We are an outward looking and internationalist party, a party that believes in the principle that we achieve more by acting collectively than we do when acting alone. As such, we should be proud of all we have achieved as part of a European Union that has delivered peace and prosperity to our continent and stronger rights and standards at home. It is vital Labour fights the forces who aim to undermine the progress we have made and ensures that future generations continue to benefit from the advantages we have won.

Richard Corbett MEP
EPLP leader

STABILITY AND PROGRESS WITHIN THE PARTY HUMAN RESOURCES REPORT

---

Following a successful year focussing on equality and diversity across our workforce, we were proud to be able to share the results of our Gender Pay report which indicated that we had a negative gender pay gap of -3.02%, meaning on average women are paid more than men within the organisation. This has changed from a mean gender pay gap of 2.45% in 2017. We have taken significant steps and continue to take action to tackle the gender pay gap, including initiatives such as a female development programme, internal networks and an active promotion of flexible working policies and recruitment practices.

Our work on diversity and inclusion has been recognised as we have successfully maintained our status as a Stonewall Diversity Champion and a Disability Confident employer, which underlines our commitment to equal opportunities, both within our workplace and in wider society. Using our staff networks we will seek feedback from our people on what has worked well and what more we can do. In 2018, the Labour Party has maintained and exceeded the requirements of our accreditation for being a Living Wage employer and are looking at other ways we can set a high standard through other external endorsements and by building on the training undertaken for Mental Health First Aiders.

Looking forward, there will be a focus over the next year on how we can support greater career development internally and how we can practically provide an exciting and inclusive working environment for our employees.

STABILITY AND PROGRESS WITHIN THE PARTY FINANCE

2018 was the first period in years without a major election or referendum. However, the political turmoil triggered by the Tories attempt to govern without a majority and the shambolic Brexit negotiations required that we remained election ready. The financial support delivered by a membership of over half a million meant that we were able to rise to this challenge.

Not only were we able to maintain an organisation ready to contest a general election, significant funds were also invested in new strategies and activities designed to boost engagement and activism. In 2018, £1m of reserves were allocated to key activities and campaigns. Investing now for future elections, but at the same time maintaining funds in reserve – the General Election Trust Fund – ready to kick start our campaign on the day that the election is called, whenever it may be.

As highlighted in previous reports, while the huge membership is our greatest asset, the fact that it now underpins our budgets and plans also means that we need to recognise the risk that it poses. Investment now, rather than retaining all funds for the final campaign push, means that the cost base has increased significantly. A reduction in the number of members above and beyond expected natural churn will require a corresponding reduction in expenditure. We recognise that, in so many ways, our members are critical to our success, each and every year.

The robust financial management engendered by the NEC's Finance Strategy will ensure that we continue to be ready to react and adapt to maintain a stable financial position.

The Commercial Development team are responsible for the marketing and delivery of income generating products across Annual Conference and Regional Conferences including fringe events, exhibition, advertising and accreditation.

At Annual Conference our exhibition was full with 160 stands representing the third sector, leading business, unions and NGOs. Demand for exhibition space was high and it spanned two of the Conference venues, the ECL and the ACC in Liverpool. As always it provided an interesting and informative experience for visitors and received much positive feedback from delegates. Features included the Small Business Zone and interactive stands such as the Guide Dogs obstacle course. As ever the promotional items proved to be hugely popular.

The Exhibitors Reception was well attended with John McDonnell thanking all our exhibitors for their invaluable contribution, sharing ideas, information, best practice and services to our visitors.

We left Liverpool with bookings secured for 30% of the exhibition space at Brighton 2019, a very positive start.

Over 550 fringe events took place with lots of first time clients representing a wide range of sectors. There was an increase in the number of organisations running programmes of multiple events throughout conference, including SME4Labour, Heathrow, Dods and Unite the Union.

Attendance increased in each of the stakeholder categories, and the Conference Programme was very well received with the post event surveys supplying considerable positive feedback. Members were enthused and energised by the expansion in policy discussions as well as the new look training hub. Commercial and third sectors visitors commented on the increased levels of engagement provided by the sector specific events.

The team supported the successful delivery of Scottish Conference, Welsh Conference and several Regional Conferences. We are working with colleagues on product development as well as onsite support and pre event planning.

Fundraising

The Fundraising team launched a new four year strategy in 2018 with a focus on building relationships with new donors from across the whole of the UK.

With the support of an external agency and following a period of consultation with former, current and prospective members, a new proposition for our mid-level fundraising programme was launched in December 2018. Labour's Rose Network aims to engage supporters across the UK with a new programme of events, as well as the opportunity to have meaningful discussions on policy, ideas and the big issues facing the country.

We also recruited a Major Donor fundraiser to focus on identifying support for key organisational priorities and programmes, including the Community Organising unit. This new resource is already proving successful, generating funds for key initiatives outside of the general election period. An example and highlight of 2018 was the team's fundraising success in establishing the party's Defending Democracy Fund.

We would like to thank all of our supporters for their generosity in 2018, and for the kind support from Emily Thornberry MP, Baroness Shami Chakrabarti and to all those who have assisted our Fundraising efforts throughout the year.

In the 2018 financial year, reportable donations (excluding government grants), with a value of more than £7,500 to the central party organisation totalled £6.3 million, despite the year having none of the major political events usually associated with increased donation revenue.

We secured a number of major sponsorship packages in 2018, generating commercial income of £181,500 for the party. This included £33,000 from USDAW for their sponsorship of conference lanyards, passes and stewards t-shirts; a Bloomberg conference package with an overall value of £50,000; £20,000 from Intuit for sponsorship of the Business Forum Lunch and the Small Business Summit and conference packages worth £15,000 each from ACCA, and TSB and a package worth £20,000 from ICAEW.

STABILITY AND PROGRESS WITHIN THE PARTY TREASURERS' REPORT

We are pleased to present the financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2018, which show a year of consolidation and election readiness.

The party has been able to continue to allocate increased resources to campaigning activities and seats whilst maintaining reserves set aside for a future general election. The removal of the Tories' outright majority in 2017 and uncertainty around the Brexit negotiations created an opportunity to positively target spending in a non-election year as well as the financial challenge of remaining on an election footing.

Income totalled £46m (including donations of just under £6m) despite the year having none of the major political events which lead to this level of revenue. There was increased income from membership and because of gains in the General Election, also from increased government grants. In line with previous experience, there was a net fall in the number of members over the course of the year, but there were still over half a million members at the end of 2018. Our expenditure in the year was £3m greater than 2017 if you exclude expenditure on that year's General Election campaign. This was mainly spent on staff and activities to support campaigning and engagement – investment now for future elections.

Even after the planned use of reserves to fund campaign expenditure in the year, we continue to hold funds for a future general election – “a general election trust fund”. We also continue to be free of external debt. It should be noted that the loans reported in these statements represent amounts held on behalf of CLPs with corresponding cash deposits shown as assets.

We continue to adhere to the NEC's Finance Strategy which, we are proud to report, continues to maintain financial stability despite possible future challenges, not least from the impact of the Trade Union Act.

We would like to thank our members, supporters, affiliated trade unions and socialist societies for their support. Also to thank all activists, staff and elected representatives for their hard work and commitment. We would like to record our gratitude to all donors for all of their financial support through the year.

Finally we look forward to the investment made this year and in future periods bringing success in elections so we can deliver “for the many not the few”.

ADMINISTRATIVE INFORMATION

Review of Political Activities

A detailed review of the party's political activities during the period covered by the financial statements will be included in the National Executive Committee (NEC)'s Annual Report that will be submitted to the 2019 Annual Conference for its agreement. The NEC's Annual Report will be available from September 2019.

Committees

The NEC is the governing body of the Labour Party that oversees the overall direction of the party and the policy-making process. It carries out this role by setting strategic objectives on an annual basis and meeting regularly to review the work of the party in these areas.

All members of the NEC are members of the National Policy Forum. This body oversees the development of party policy. It meets throughout the year in full session and through policy commissions presents a report to Annual Conference.

The NEC also has a number of specialist committees and is responsible for upholding the rules of the party and propriety of Labour selection processes. Details of the principal specialist committees of the NEC are as follows:

Committee	Responsibilities
Business Board	Oversight of the business functions of the organisation including the management of finances.
Joint Policy Committee (JPC)	The JPC is responsible for strategic oversight of the party's policy development. It oversees the rolling programme, and acts as a steering group for the National Policy Forum (NPF). Jointly convened by the Leader and NEC Co-convenor, it is a joint committee made up of members of the NEC, Shadow Cabinet and NPF.
Equalities Committee	The Committee advises the NEC on steps to increase the party's membership and representation on elected bodies so as better to reflect the community in terms of gender, ethnicity, age, sexual orientation and disability and to assist and promote the party's work in combating discrimination in all forms.
Organisation Committee	Responsible for party rules and constitution; ensures the party is operating effectively throughout the country to the highest standards; and has overall responsibility for membership, investigations, selections, local government, conferences, electoral law, boundaries strategy and internal elections.
Disputes Panel	Hears membership appeals and re-admission applications; considers party disputes and conciliation; undertakes minor investigations and local government appeals where referred to the NEC; and conducts hearings and interviews around the country where necessary.
Audit and Risk Management	Responsibility for the party's risk register and policies to mitigate risks.

Elected representatives

The party's elected representatives at the Westminster, Scottish and European Parliaments and the National Assembly for Wales can be found on the party's websites at:

The Registered Treasurer of the party is required by the Political Parties, Elections and Referendums Act 2000 to prepare financial statements for each financial year which give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the party and of its surplus or deficit for that period. In preparing those financial statements, the Registered Treasurer is required to:

- Select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- Make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- State whether applicable accounting standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements; and
- Prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the party will continue in business.

The Registered Treasurer is responsible for keeping proper accounting records which disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the party at that time and to enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Act. They also have delegated responsibility from the National Executive Committee for ensuring that appropriate controls are established for safeguarding the assets of the party and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of the Labour Party for the year ended 31 December 2018 which comprise the consolidated income and expenditure account, the statements of comprehensive income and changes in equity, the consolidated balance sheet, the consolidated cash flow statement and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies. The financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards, including Financial Reporting Standard 102 The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

In our opinion, the financial statements:

- give a true and fair view of the state of the Labour Party's affairs as at 31 December 2018 and of the deficit for the year then ended;
- have been properly prepared in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice;
- have been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Political Parties, Elections and Referendums Act 2000.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK) (ISAs (UK)) and applicable law. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the Labour Party in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in the UK, including the FRC's Ethical Standard, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Conclusions relating to going concern

We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters in relation to which the ISAs (UK) require us to report to you where:

- the Registered Treasurer's use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the financial statements is not appropriate; or
- the Registered Treasurer has not disclosed in the financial statements any identified material uncertainties that may cast significant doubt about the Labour Party's ability to continue to adopt the going concern basis of accounting for a period of at least twelve months from the date when the financial statements are authorised for issue.

Other information

The Registered Treasurer is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Treasurer's Report, other than the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon. Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in our report, we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If we identify such material inconsistencies or apparent material misstatements, we are required to determine whether there is a material misstatement in the financial statements or a material misstatement of the other information. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

STABILITY AND PROGRESS WITHIN THE PARTY

Responsibilities of Registered Treasurer

As explained more fully in the statement of Registered Treasurer's responsibilities set out on page 54, the Registered Treasurer is responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view, and for such internal control as the directors determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the Registered Treasurer is responsible for assessing the Labour Party's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Registered Treasurer either intends to liquidate the Labour Party or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (UK) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists.

Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

A further description of our responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements is located on the Financial Reporting Council's website at: www.frc.org.uk/auditorsresponsibilities. This description forms part of our auditor's report.

Use of our report

This report is made solely to the Labour Party's members, as a body, in accordance with Section 43 of the Political Parties, Elections and Referendums Act 2000. Our audit work has been undertaken so that we might state to the Labour Party's members those matters we are required to state to them in an auditor's report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Labour Party and the Labour Party's members as a body, for our audit work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed.

General information

The Labour Party is a political party registered with the Electoral Commission. The address of its registered office is disclosed on page 1.

The financial statements are presented in sterling, which is also the functional currency of the party.

1. Accounting policies

The financial statements have been prepared on the basis of historical cost as modified by the revaluation of land and buildings, and are in accordance with applicable accounting standards in the United Kingdom. The financial statements reflect the principles contained in the Statement of Accounts Guidance Notes issued by the Electoral Commission and in existence as at 5 May 2008.

The party's accounting policies are set out below. These have been applied consistently.

The following principal accounting policies have been applied:

a. Income recognition

Income, which excludes value added tax, is recognised when all of the following conditions have been met:

- The party is entitled to the asset;
- There is reasonable certainty that the asset will be received; and
- The value of the asset can be measured with reasonable certainty.

Applying these criteria to specific types of income results in the following treatment:

- Donations, including legacies, are recognised in the income and expenditure account on receipt. Donations of notional income are recognised on receipt at the relevant market value of the donation received with an expense of the same amount being recognised at the same time.
- Membership fees are recognised in the income and expenditure account when received.

- Government grants are recognised in the year in which the related expenditure is incurred (see note 5).

All other income including affiliation fees is recognised on an accruals basis.

b. Tangible fixed assets

Property assets comprise both freehold and leasehold land and buildings held as functional property or long-term investments by Labour Party Properties Limited.

Functional property is carried at fair value. This is based on the most recent professional valuation (which is carried out at least every five years) or, if recently acquired, at cost, subject to an annual impairment review (carried out by the directors of Labour Party Properties Limited with the assistance of an expert third party who is retained throughout the year). In addition, if the annual impairment reviews identify instances where the carrying value is materially different from the fair value then a full valuation will be conducted. Given the maintenance of the properties and the length of their estimated useful lives, or lease term no depreciation is charged as it is considered to be immaterial. The National Executive Committee (NEC) considers that this accounting policy results in the financial statements giving a true and fair view.

Investment properties are measured at fair value annually by the directors of Labour Party Properties Limited with the assistance of an expert third party with any change recognised in the consolidated income and expenditure account.

Long leasehold improvement assets are depreciated on a straight line basis over the period of the lease.

Expenditure on other tangible assets is only considered for capitalisation if it amounts to £10,000 or more and its useful economic life can be reasonably estimated at the year end.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

c. Value added tax

The party is registered for value added tax (VAT) purposes, but it is only liable on chargeable transactions. All items of income and expenditure are shown in the financial statements net of VAT. A partial exemption formula has been agreed with HM Revenue and Customs and VAT has been recovered. The value of VAT that is irrecoverable is included in "Other expenditure" (see note 12).

d. Pension costs

The Labour Party is responsible for the solvency of the Labour Party Superannuation Society, which is a defined benefit pension scheme (see note 22). Pension scheme assets are measured using market values. The present value of the defined benefit obligation was measured using the Projected Unit Credit Method.

Any pension scheme surplus (to the extent it is considered recoverable) or deficit is recognised in full and presented on the face of the balance sheet. The movement in the scheme surplus/deficit is split between operating charges, financing items and, in the statement of changes in equity, actuarial gains and losses.

e. Accounting estimates

The preparation of financial statements requires the use of estimates and assumptions about future conditions. This is especially important in the setting of bad and doubtful debt provisions. The NEC believes that it has examined all reasonably available information in assessing the recoverability of debtors and set the provision prudently.

f. Operating leases

Rentals payable and receivable under operating leases are charged or credited to the income and expenditure account on a straight-line basis over the terms of the leases.

g. Investments

Investments in non-quoted shares are normally valued at cost less provision for impairment.

Where investments are donated to the party the potential fair value is considered and if a reliable fair value can be determined the investment is recognised at its deemed cost, i.e. the fair value at the date of donation. If a sufficiently reliable fair value is not available for donated assets no cost is recognised.

Quoted investments are measured at market value and are revalued each year, with gains/losses being recognised in the statement of comprehensive income and changes in equity.

h. Key judgements and estimates

In the application of the party's accounting policies, which are described in note 1, the NEC are required to make judgements, estimates, assumptions about the carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. The estimates and underlying assumptions are based on historical experience and other factors that are considered to be relevant. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an on-going basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects the current and future periods.

The key sources of estimation uncertainty that have a significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements are described in the accounting policies and are summarised below:

- Pension liabilities – The party recognises its asset or liability in respect of its defined benefit pension scheme which involves a number of estimations as disclosed in Note 22.

- Valuation of investment properties– The party's investment properties are stated at their estimated fair value based on professional valuations as disclosed in Note 15.
- Dilapidation provision – The party has provided for its possible liability in relation to its leasehold property which has been estimated as disclosed in Note 19.

i. Financial instruments

The Labour Party has financial assets and financial liabilities of a kind that qualify as basic financial instruments. Basic financial instruments are initially recognised at transaction value and subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method. Financial assets held at amortised cost comprise cash at bank and in hand, together with trade and other debtors. Financial liabilities held at amortised cost comprise bank loans and overdrafts, trade and other creditors.

Investment properties are held at fair value at the Balance Sheet date, with gains and losses being recognised within income and expenditure. Investments in subsidiary undertakings are held at cost less impairment.

At the balance sheet date the party held financial assets at amortised cost of £22,597,000 (2017: £19,755,000) and Financial liabilities at amortised cost of £20,265,000 (2017: £19,191,000). The party held financial assets at fair value through the income and expenditure accounts of £2,102,000 (2017: £5,037,000).

2. Basis of preparation

The Labour Party is constituted under section 26 of the Political Parties, Elections and Referendums Act 2000 as a central organisation with accounting units. The consolidated financial statements incorporate the results of the Labour Party central organisation, its subsidiary undertaking Labour Party Properties Limited, the Scottish Labour Party and the Wales Labour Party. The Scottish Labour Party is a separate accounting unit registered with the Electoral Commission and as such is required to file its own financial statements with the Electoral Commission, but as its management is integrated with that of the Labour Party's central organisation it is considered appropriate to reflect its results in the consolidated financial statements. The consolidated financial statements do not include the results of other accounting units registered with the Electoral Commission except where Head Office undertakes accounting on behalf of certain accounting units or bears costs relating to accounting units, which are not then subsequently recharged to the accounting unit.

The income and expenditure account includes the consolidated results of the regional offices of the Labour Party, the Scottish Labour Party and the Wales Labour Party which contributed a surplus of £10,000 (2017: surplus of £40,000) to the result for the year. The consolidated results of the regional offices are produced from accounts that are prepared mainly on a cash accounting basis rather than an accruals basis. It is not considered that restatement of the results on to an accruals basis for the current and prior years would have a material impact on the result for the year.

The financial projections of the party indicate that the funding to be generated across all income streams will provide sufficient means for the party to achieve its organisational and political objectives as well as service its debt for the foreseeable future. Accordingly the financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis.

Campaign expenditure in the consolidated statement of income and expenditure (£nil in 2018, £11,012,000 in 2017) represents the party's expenditure in national elections, as defined by the Political Parties, Elections and Referendums Act 2000 and reported to the Electoral Commission.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

3. Basis of taxation

The party is treated as an unincorporated association for tax purposes and is therefore liable to corporation tax on its investment income. It also bears tax on any investment transactions that give rise to capital gains.

The taxation of each of the subsidiary companies under the control of the NEC is dealt with separately and a corporation tax liability arises on any adjusted income and expenditures as returned to HM Revenue and Customs.

If all of the property assets were sold at their balance sheet values it is estimated that any tax liability would be extinguished by available indexation allowances and tax losses brought forward.

A deferred tax liability of £14,000 (2017: £21,000 asset) has not been recognised. This arises primarily from timing differences between the net book value of assets qualifying for capital allowances and their tax written down value.

At 31 December 2018 Labour Party Properties Ltd had approximately £54,000 of losses carried forward (2017: £242,000).

21. Subsidiary companies

The following are the subsidiary companies controlled by the NEC of the party during 2018:

Name	Nature of business	Country of incorporation	Proportion of voting rights held
Labour Party Properties Limited	Property management and investment	England and Wales	100%
Labour Party Nominees Limited	Property trustee (non trading)	England and Wales	100%

All trading activities of all the party's subsidiaries are located, and their income generated, entirely in the United Kingdom.

The statutory financial statements of each of the above companies are produced separately to these financial statements.

22. Pension fund

Introduction

The party sponsors a funded defined benefit pension plan for qualifying UK employees, the Labour Party Superannuation Society. The Society is a multi-employer scheme and the party is responsible for the majority of the Society liabilities. Notwithstanding the above, the disclosures below are in respect of the whole Society.

The level of benefits provided by the Society depends on a member's length of service and their salary at their date of leaving the Society.

Funding requirements

UK legislation requires that pension schemes are funded prudently. The last funding valuation of the Society was carried out by a qualified actuary as at 31 December 2017 and showed a surplus of £8.2M.

Part of the above surplus has been used to enable the party to continue to pay contributions of 21.4% of pensionable salaries in respect of current accrual, with active members paying a further 6.0% of pensionable salaries. The rate paid by the party is expected to increase to 29% of pensionable salaries with effect from 1 January 2020.

Reporting at 31 December 2018

The results of the draft funding valuation at 31 December 2017 have been adjusted to the new balance sheet date, taking account of experience over the period since 31 December 2017, changes in market conditions, and differences in financial and demographic assumptions. The present value of the Defined Benefit Obligation, and the related current service cost, were measured using the projected unit credit method.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The principal assumptions used to calculate the liabilities under FRS 102 are set out below:

Main Financial Assumptions

	2018	2017
Discount rate for society liabilities	2.80%	2.60%
Rate of general long term increase in salaries	4.15%	4.15%
RPI inflation	3.15%	3.15%
CPI inflation	2.15%	2.15%
Pension increases pre April 1997	0.00%	0.00%
Pension increases April 1997 to April 2005	2.20%	2.10%
Pension increases post April 2005	1.80%	1.80%

The mortality base tables adopted are 103% (2017 104%) of S2PMA tables for males and 109% of S2PFA tables for females, with CMI2017 [Sk=7.5] (2017 CMI2014) projections. and a long term rate of improvement of 1.5% each year.

Under these assumptions, members aged 60 now are expected to live for a further 26.5 years (2017 27.3 years) if they are male and a further 28.1 years (2017 29.1 years) if they are female. Members currently aged 45 are expected to live for a further 27.9 years (2017 29.0 years) from age 60 if they are male and for a further 29.6 years (2017 30.9 years) from age 60 if they are female.

Members are assumed to take 25% of their pension as a tax-free lump sum, using commutation factors currently in force.
